The corporate governance of DAIICHIKOSHO CO., LTD. (the “Company”) is described below.

I. Basic Views on Corporate Governance, Capital Structure, Corporate Profile and Other Basic Information

1. Basic Views

The Company and its subsidiaries (the “Group”) believe that sustained growth and medium- to long-term enhancement of corporate value are priority management objectives. In order to achieve them, it is critical for us to 1) build up a trustful relationship with all stakeholders including not only shareholders and customers, but also business partners and employees. It is no less important for us to 2) achieve long-term stable growth, through providing services and products that offer satisfaction to customers, thereby contributing to the co-existence between customers and the Group, based on our corporate motto, “More music to society, more service to society.” Under the aforementioned philosophy, the Group established and published the “DAIICHIKOSHO Group Code of Conduct” as our action guidelines. Moreover, with a view to further driving the achievements of priority management objectives, the Group will strive to develop a more robust corporate governance structure through various measures, fully respecting the purport of the Corporate Governance Code established by the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

DAIICHIKOSHO Group Code of Conduct

<https://www.dkkaraoke.co.jp/corporate/public/conduct.html>

[Reasons for Non-compliance with the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code]

[Supplementary principle 4.1.2] (Formulation and announcement of a mid-term management plan)
Given the increasing pace of change in business environment surrounding companies, commitment to achieving a mid-term plan may be rather a risk. Based on this belief, the Company formulates a management plan only on a single year basis and makes it public.

The management plan on a single year basis and basic principles on capital policies are published in the Company’s Flash Report on the Consolidated Results and annual securities report, etc.

[Supplementary principle 4.11.1] (Philosophy on the compositional balance, diversity and size of the Board of Directors)

The compositional balance of the Group’s Board of Directors is basically maintained by appointing talents well-versed in each business domain of the Group, and the Group seeks a balance as a foundation to allow the Board of Directors to carry out comprehensive and reasonable decision-making.

In terms of diversity, independent Outside Directors (including a female director) are appointed, with a view to enhancing corporate governance based on the management oversight from a viewpoint free of the business culture of the karaoke industry and of the Company. Meanwhile, as to the size of the Board of Directors, it is believed to be adequate in view of the Group’s business domains from the perspective of building a management system that flexibly responds to changes in the business environment. Besides, the Board of Directors is not comprised in a way that takes into account a global aspect, as currently most of the Company's net sales come from its domestic business. Going forward, we will make efforts so that we can appoint Directors with diverse backgrounds in accordance with the expansion of our business domains.

[Disclosure Based on the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code] Updated

[Principle 1.4] (Policies for strategic shareholdings and the standards for exercising voting rights)

1. Policies for strategic holdings

The Group's business domains cover a wide array of businesses ranging from the planning and development, consignment production, sales, rental, distribution and maintenance of commercial karaoke systems to the operation of karaoke boxes as part of provision of services to end users and the music software business, a business domain adjacent to the karaoke content business. Thus, since collaborative relationships with various companies are vital for carrying out these businesses, the Group maintains strategic holdings of shares that are judged necessary from a medium- to long-term point of view, by taking into account factors including business strategies and reinforcement of relationships with our business partners.

2. Details of the verification at the Board of Directors

The strategic shareholdings are subject to annual verification at the Board of Directors to check the rationality of such holdings on a stock by stock basis, and shareholdings that are judged lacking in rationality are reviewed for possible reduction or unwinding in consideration of share price, market trends and other circumstances as appropriate.

3. Basic principles for exercising voting rights

The Group makes decisions on the exercise of voting rights from perspectives including whether the proposal is in line with appropriate corporate governance of the relevant company issuing strategic shares, compatibility with the Group's objectives of shareholding, and economic rationality.

[Principle 1.7] (Related party transactions)

In respect of related party transactions, the Group stipulates basic attitudes of its officers and employees under the "DAIICHIKOSHO Group Code of Conduct" in an effort to fully inform all concerned of the risks associated with such transactions including any conflicts of interest that may be involved. In addition, with respect to specific transactions, the "Administrative Rules for Related Party Transactions within the Group" separately stipulate the scope of relevant transactions, procedures for executing such transactions if appropriate, reporting obligations imposed on concerned parties including officers in charge, and methods for administering transaction records.

With respect to the scope of relevant transactions and the procedures for executing such transactions, the Companies Act and other laws and regulations shall be complied with, and approval of relevant transactions shall be decided by the Board of Directors. Meanwhile, as part of measures to eliminate any such transactions going unchecked, officers and other concerned parties conducting transactions with the Group shall be required to report all of them so that progress is checked regularly in every period.

Furthermore, clear explanations are provided in the "Group Code of Conduct Guidelines," formulated as part of the education program for officers and employees, regarding the overview and handling of competitive and conflict-of-interest transactions. These explanations ensure understanding and attention on this issue by all officers and employees.

[Supplementary principle 2.4.1] (Ensuring diversity in the promotion to core human resources)

1. Policies and voluntary and measurable goals for ensuring diversity in the promotion to core human resources, along with the disclosure of their status

In order to attract excellent human resources and ensure diversity in the promotion to core human resources, the Company adopts a recruitment policy to open work opportunities to all, irrespective of academic background of applicants or whether they are new graduates or midcareer personnel. This policy has resulted in the midcareer hires accounting for approximately 60% of all employees, and in the promotion to middle managerial positions as well, midcareer hires account for approximately 80%. These results reflect our thorough adoption of merit-based personnel system in light of the business type and occupational field of the Company's operations. In measurable goals to be set up, too, these current ratios in recruitment and promotion shall be maintained. In terms of female recruits and women in middle managerial positions, they are both small in number. The reason for this is that, of the regular employees described below, while the number of those working at the Company's locations such as restaurants and BIG ECHO cabins, as well as branches and sales offices is 1,091 (as of April 1, 2022), it is difficult to assign female employees to these locations because of the operations and occupational field at these sites requiring late-night work, or due to their locational characteristic of being situated in entertainment districts. Going forward, the Company will actively promote women in new business departments or sales and other headquarters divisions, where utilization of female employees is expected, or in departments in charge of entertainment, development and administration, thereby striving to enhance the layer of female employees. In terms of foreign employees, the Company currently employs most of them as part-time workers or partly contract employees, and recruitment activities of regular employees are not being conducted in a way that takes into account a global aspect, as currently most of the Company's net sales come from its domestic business.

The actual results of the number of hires are posted on the Company's website.

<https://www.dkkaraoke.co.jp/csr/social/employment.html>

2. Policies for human resource development and internal environment development to ensure diversity in core human resources, along with the status of their implementation

The Company promotes human resource development and aims to realize a supportive workplace environment based on its policy "What is indispensable for corporate growth is first and foremost its human resources." The status of the implementation and that of internal environment development are described below.

<Human resource development>

Hierarchy-specific training: Training for newly hired employee, Training for newly appointed managers

Sales staff training: Training workshop for new staff

Store staff training: Training for midcareer hires, Job-specific career advancement training, Training for BE managers, Hygiene training session

<Development of a supportive workplace environment>

Efforts are being made to reduce long working hours through such measures as sending of overtime alert email and periodic confirmation of the utilization status of annual leave.

In addition, to facilitate employees and their families to refresh themselves, the Company informs them about its welfare facilities on a periodic basis. It also established various systems such as an employees' savings scheme, an employee shareholding association and a collective insurance system.

[Principle 2.6] (Roles of corporate pension funds as asset owners)

The Company does not operate a corporate pension plan.

[Principle 3.1] (Full disclosure)

1. Corporate philosophy, business strategies and management plan

(1) Corporate philosophy

The Group believes that "the survival of a business depends on co-existence and co-prosperity with society." Thus, for achieving sustained growth, the Group finds it critical to fulfill our social responsibility by creating corporate value needed by society through karaoke, as illustrated by our corporate motto, "More music to society, more service to society," thereby providing pleasure and cheerfulness to the population while contributing to their healthy and enriched lifestyles.

(2) Business strategies

With a view to fulfilling its corporate philosophy, the Group shall be committed to promoting the following karaoke-focused businesses.

1. We will expand our customer base, which enjoys our karaoke services as well as the benefits of music, by developing karaoke systems of the highest standards (in terms of sound, vision, content, etc.) and building up a high-level service network across Japan.

2. We will increase the number of our repeat customers among karaoke box users by providing comfortable time and space that offer peace of mind, safety and cleanliness.

3. We will entice a wide range of karaoke users across generations, not least among the elderly population, by extensively marketing karaoke systems targeting those in need of good health or seeking recovery from ill health, physically or mentally.

(3) Management plan

The management plan (on a single year basis) is disclosed in the Company's Flash Report on the Consolidated Results as well as on its corporate website.

Please refer to "Financial Information" (financial results briefing materials).

<https://www.dkkaoko.co.jp/stockinfo/financialinfo/>

2. Our views and basic principles on corporate governance

Please refer to "Basic Views" in this report.

3. Policies and procedures on determining the remuneration for Representative Director and Directors

Remuneration for Representative Director and Directors consists of a fixed portion called basic remuneration commensurate with individual job responsibilities. A variable portion comprises executive bonuses that provide incentives commensurate with short-term performance payable within the collective limit of aggregate executive remuneration, and share remuneration-type stock options, which provide incentives commensurate with medium- to long-term performance.

Remuneration for Representative Director and Directors shall be determined based on the "Executive Remuneration Rules" and the "Rules for Share Remuneration-type Stock Options," and individual evaluations shall be made according to the "Standards for Evaluating Directors' Performance." The final evaluation and allocation of the amount of remuneration shall be decided solely by the President as entrusted by the Board of Directors.

Individual remuneration proposals prepared by the President, as entrusted by the Board of Directors, shall be submitted to the Remuneration Advisory Committee comprising Outside Directors and officers in charge of personnel affairs. The President makes the ultimate decision by respecting the results of deliberations or recommendations by the Committee.

Remuneration for Outside Directors and Corporate Auditors consists solely of basic remuneration, in consideration of their responsibilities for management oversight and auditing functions from an independent standpoint.

4. Policies and procedures on the appointment/dismissal of Representative Director as well as on the nomination of candidates for Directors and Corporate Auditors

The Company has clarified the roles expected of Representative Director and Directors in the form of seven key roles expected of Directors (innovative spirit, flexibility for change, power to see the essence, power to envision, breaking free of the past, utilization of diversity, risk management) in the "Standards for Evaluating Directors' Performance."

In the appointment of Representative Director, abilities to envisage strategies based on the Group's corporate philosophy and strong capabilities to execute business are required as vital preconditions, apart from the aforementioned roles expected of Directors.

In the nomination of candidates for Directors, appropriate persons are selected in overall consideration of individual character and insights necessary for executing management/supervisory functions, based on the aforementioned seven key roles expected of Directors.

In the nomination of candidates for Corporate Auditors, appropriate persons are selected based on their insight into corporate risks, abilities to honestly articulate opinions to the corporate manager, and capabilities to contribute to the enhancement of the soundness and transparency of management.

In the appointment of Representative Director as well as the nomination of candidates for Directors and Corporate Auditors, the Personnel Affairs Advisory Committee chaired by an Outside Director shall conduct prior deliberation and submit its opinion to the Board of Directors. The Board shall carefully review such opinions and make decisions.

Dismissal of Representative Director shall be decided by the Board of Directors whenever deviation from the standards that warranted the appointment is recognized. However, as a fail-safe system in the event of the Board of Directors falling into a state of dysfunction for whatever reason, the Personnel Affairs Advisory Committee chaired by an Outside Director shall provide the Board of Directors with advice or recommendations for dismissal.

Individual appointment/dismissal and nomination at the time of nominating candidates for Directors and Corporate Auditors shall be stated in the Notice of Convocation of the General Meeting of Shareholders.

Please refer to the "Report on the General Meeting of Shareholders" (Notice of Convocation of the 47th Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders).

<https://www.dkkaoko.co.jp/stockinfo/meeting.html>

In addition, in the appointment of executives, they are appointed based on the skill items that were identified in light of the business strategies of the Company, and in line with the Company's "Policies and procedures on the appointment/dismissal of Representative Director as well as on the nomination of candidates for Directors and Corporate Auditors." (The skills matrix of Directors is provided at the end of this Report.)

[Supplementary principle 3.1.3] (Initiatives, etc. on sustainability)

Since its inception, the Group has continued to expand by delivering enjoyment and entertainment to society mainly through the medium of karaoke. The Group is now earnestly addressing issues associated with modern living, such as rising mental stress levels, in addition to growing health concerns as the population ages, as well as environmental and other issues that our society is faced with, in a bid to propel our growth forward as a company that contributes to society by exploring the potential of the joy of singing and places to sing.

<Basic principles on sustainability>

The Group aims to provide pleasure and cheerfulness to the population through karaoke, while contributing to their healthy and enriched lifestyles.

<Priority objectives>

Amid Japan's super-aging society, the Group has identified the "extension of healthy life expectancy" and the "enhancement of Quality of Life (QOL)" for the elderly as its priority objectives, in line with its basic principles on sustainability. The Group is also diligently working to solve various social issues, including environmental problems, through its business activities. By promoting these initiatives designed to solve social issues, we have established a corporate governance structure optimized for the realization of a sustainable society.

<Sustainability promotion systems>

At the Sustainability Committee, which is chaired by the President of the Company, we discuss and deliberate on initiatives for priority objectives and essential matters in accordance with the Group's basic principles on sustainability. The Sustainability Committee submits regular reports regarding its discussions twice a year to the Board of Directors to allow for the monitoring of the status of such initiatives.

1. Initiatives for human capital

The Group promotes human resource development and aims to realize a supportive workplace environment based on its policy "What is indispensable for corporate growth is first and foremost its human resources." We also improve the internal environment so that various human resources can exercise their abilities.

2. Initiatives for intellectual properties

In order to contribute to all stakeholders based on our corporate motto, "More music to society, more service to society," the Group is engaged in the research and development of new products and services. Inventions arising in the course of embodying this motto are protected as intellectual properties properly and in a secure manner so as to increase corporate value.

3. Initiatives related to climate change

The Company discloses information on its initiatives in this regard in accordance with the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) recommendations to analyze climate-related risks and opportunities, as we develop operational systems for governance, strategy, metrics and targets, and risk management.

Details of our initiatives on sustainability are posted on the Company's website:

[Supplementary principle 4.1.1] (Scope of delegation to the management)

The Board of Directors shall make decisions on the matters required to be decided solely by the Board of Directors under laws and regulations, as well as on important business execution as defined by the internal rules. Business execution other than the aforementioned matters shall be delegated to each organizational unit and managers thereof including Corporate Officers, according to the Executive Committee, as well as the “Organizational Rules” and the “Rules on Division of Duties.” The description and level of delegation of authority associated with the delegation of business execution shall be defined by the “Standards for the Approving Authority” stipulated by the Board of Directors.

[Principle 4.8] (Effective utilization of independent Outside Directors)

The Company currently appoints two independent Outside Directors to ensure enhancement of oversight functions towards Directors’ business execution and management transparency.

[Principle 4.9] (Criteria for assessing the independence of and qualification required for independent Outside Directors)

The Company’s independence criteria for Outside Directors are stated in the “[Independent Officers-related] Other matters relating to Independent Officers” in this report. Please refer to the section.

[Supplementary principle 4.11.2] (Concurrent service of Directors and Corporate Auditors)

None of the Company’s Directors or Corporate Auditors are concurrently serving as officers of other listed companies.

[Supplementary principle 4.11.3] (Self-evaluation of the effectiveness of the Board of Directors)

With a view to enhancing the function of the Board of Directors, the Company conducted an evaluation of the effectiveness of the Board of Directors as follows. The results will be fed back to ensure future improvement of the Board of Directors.

1. Content of implementation (Evaluation period: from April 2022 to September 2022)

- (1) A questionnaire-based self-evaluation is carried out targeting all Inside Directors including the Chairman of the Board of Directors.
- (2) The effectiveness of the Board of Directors as a whole is evaluated with reference to the results of a self-evaluation by individual Directors.
- (3) Efforts for improvement are to be made as necessary by drawing out issues with respect to the composition and administration of the Board of Directors, based on the evaluation of the Board.
- (4) Evaluation of the Board’s effectiveness as well as the issues drawn out and improvement are to reflect the opinions of Outside Directors.

2. Method for evaluation

The evaluation of the Board of Directors is classified into two categories, namely “resolution matter evaluation” and “institutional evaluation” as follows.

- (1) “Resolution matter evaluation” refers to the evaluation of the effectiveness of the resolution/reporting process at the Board of Directors meetings held during the applicable period.
- (2) “Institutional evaluation” refers to the evaluation of the compositional/organizational effectiveness of the Board of Directors.

3. Summary of results of analysis/evaluation relating to the effectiveness of the Board of Directors in the first half of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2023

Through the “resolution matter evaluation,” as a result of the evaluation of resolution/reporting matters relating to items including the management plan, capital policies, business strategies, affiliates policies, internal control, corporate institution, material personnel affairs, it was concluded that effectiveness of the resolution/reporting process was carefully managed and appropriate.

Through the “institutional evaluation,” as a result of the evaluation of the current status of items including the Board of Directors, outside officers, corporate governance, various reportings, administration of meetings, it was concluded that compositional/organizational effectiveness of the Board of Directors is in compliance with laws and regulations, suitable for the actual condition of the Company, and adequate as well as reasonable in consideration of all factors including oversight by outside officers.

Furthermore, we will proceed with evaluations going forward while making efforts for improvement and conducting examinations including with respect to its procedures and methods, with a view to enhancing the functions of the Board of Directors.

[Supplementary principle 4.14.2] (Policy on the training for Directors and Corporate Auditors)

Newly appointed Directors and Corporate Auditors shall participate in the executive training program organized by an external attorney at the earliest opportunity following their appointment. They shall also receive briefings on important matters concerning the Company including its business strategies and financial condition from the President or executive corporate officers designated by the President.

To help Inside Directors gain a deeper understanding mainly in such areas as “Roles and Responsibilities of the Board of Directors” and “Fiduciary Duty of Directors and Corporate Auditors, etc.” set out under the Corporate Governance Code, the Company provides information and training on specific matters as they arise, utilizing venues such as the Officers Council.

To help independent Outside Directors gain a deeper understanding mainly in such areas as “Responsibilities of the Board of Directors” in general and “Roles and Responsibilities of Outside Directors” set out under the Corporate Governance Code, the Company provides necessary information on specific matters as appropriate. Meanwhile, the Company also provides explanations about the Group’s businesses and operations while creating as many opportunities as possible for visiting the fields of business.

In the meantime, information about relevant laws and regulations, etc. is shared among Corporate Auditors as appropriate, while the Company is offering necessary support to their self-improvement efforts through training opportunities such as external seminars.

[Principle 5.1] (Policy for establishment of system and related measures for the promotion of constructive dialogue with shareholders)

1. Basic views

The Group believes that the development of trustful relationships with shareholders/investors is essential for materializing sustained growth and enhancing corporate value over the medium to long term. To this end, the Group recognizes that it is important to provide accurate and impartial report on the current status of the Group’s operation to shareholders/investors, while gathering unreserved opinions therefrom.

2. IR system

For effective dialogue with shareholders/investors, the Group appoints a Corporate Officer in charge, and the Business Planning Department is in charge of IR activities. Opinions presented from shareholders/investors in the course of dialogue will be periodically organized and analyzed by the Business Planning Department and reported to the President and Directors as appropriate.

3. IR activities

The Group conducts close information exchanges with institutional investors based on the “face-to-face” principle. Meanwhile, the Company posts on its website various information as appropriate for both private and institutional investors, including the Flash Report on the Consolidated Results, financial results briefing materials and newsletters for shareholders.

For the purpose of direct dialogue with shareholders, the Company also organizes a social gathering for shareholders after every Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders, thereby providing an opportunity for them to have their voice heard candidly.

4. Insider information and the quiet period

The Company shall deliver no insider information in its dialogue with shareholders/investors. It shall refrain from having any dialogue on the subject of financial results for a period that begins three weeks before the announcement of financial results and ends on the day of the said announcement in each quarter (the “quiet period”).

The Company also adopts measures, including preparation and distribution of a basic manual for handling anti-social force issues, participation in an external training program and conducting internal enlightenment activities, striving to develop a system for preventing loss and damage associated with anti-social forces.

V. Other

1. Adoption of Anti-Takeover Measures

Adoption of Anti-Takeover Measures	Not Adopted
------------------------------------	-------------

Supplementary Explanation

As of this moment, the Company has yet to introduce defensive measures against hostile takeovers. Going forward, the Company shall review the necessity and other aspects of such measures, based on the judgment of whether they would contribute to the enhancement of corporate value, fully in consideration of the impact on shareholders.

If the Company decides to introduce, as a defense against hostile takeovers, any measures that might impact shareholders and investors, the measures' details shall immediately be disclosed.

2. Other Matters Concerning Corporate Governance System

Summary of the timely disclosure system

1. The Company's approach toward disclosure

We recognize that management's essential responsibility is its commitment to active information disclosure in a timely and appropriate manner to help shareholders/investors make appropriate judgments on the Company's corporate value. Based on the following disclosure policy, the Company will strive to enhance management transparency through adequate information disclosure, with a view to meeting the trust of shareholders/investors.

2. Disclosure policy

(1) Basic policy for information disclosure

The Company believes that it is its critical responsibility to all stakeholders, not least shareholders and investors, to provide prompt and accurate information disclosure based on transparency, fairness and continuity of management.

In order to fulfill such responsibilities, the Company shall strive to disclose information in compliance with the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act and the Timely Disclosure Rules set out by the Tokyo Stock Exchange. Other important information will also be published on the Company's website on a timely basis.

(2) Method for information disclosure

The Company discloses the required information under the Timely Disclosure Rules on TD-NET as provided by the Tokyo Stock Exchange, pursuant to such rules. Information disclosed on TD-NET shall all be posted, in principle, on the Company's website without delay. The Company shall also strive to disclose at its discretion information not required to be disclosed under the Timely Disclosure Rules on the Company's website, following the spirit of timely disclosure, insofar as it helps the shareholders/investors better understand the Company, thereby ensuring an accurate and fair delivery of information thereto.

(3) Quiet period

The Company shall arrange a "quiet period" that begins three weeks before the announcement of financial results and ends on the day of the said announcement, for the purpose of preventing information leakages concerning financial results and ensuring fairness. During the quiet period, the Company shall refrain from making any comments or answering any questions regarding the results, provided, however, that if it becomes evident that a discrepancy from the performance forecast observed during the period falls into the range of fluctuation applicable under the Securities Listing Regulations, the discrepancy shall be disclosed in the form of a press release, etc. as appropriate.

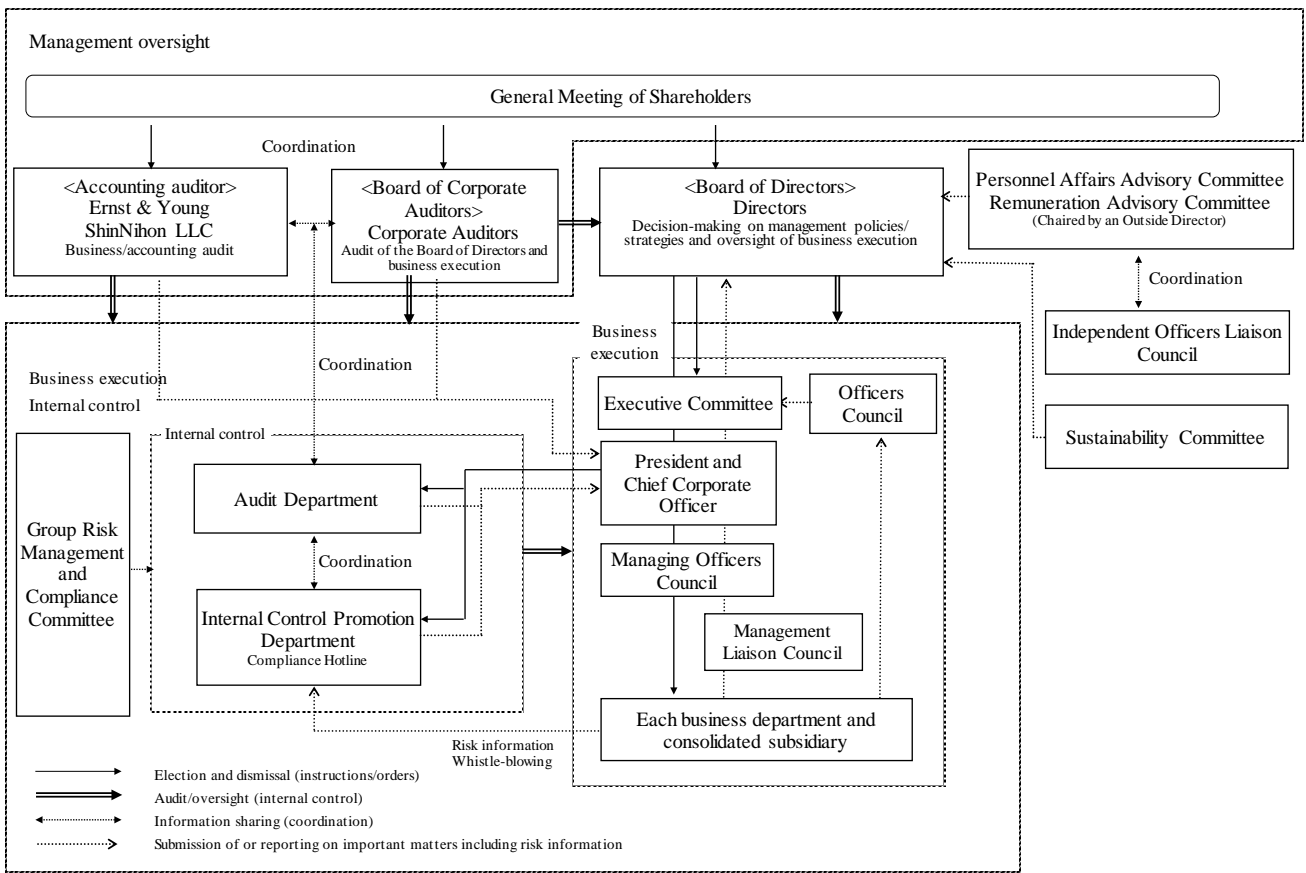

(4) Forward-looking statements

The information disclosed by the Company excepting the past facts is forward-looking statements reflecting its judgment based on currently available information, and thus should involve risks and uncertainties associated with factors including economic conditions, market trends, and changes in tax regimes and various institutions. Thus, please bear in mind that the actual results, etc. to be announced in the future may deviate from those described in the forward-looking statements due to changes in such factors.

3. Internal system for timely disclosure

Please refer to the diagram that illustrates the system for timely disclosure.
